Honoring Our Veterans

What They See

Robbie G

You might see a veteran in a mall, office, or store,
Though you'd never imagine the battles they fought before.

Soldiers carry a shining, bright light,
Even when they must stand and fight.

Their courage shows what one person can do,
As they sacrifice for me and you.

To imagine planes flying overhead while tanks rolled by,
Shows the bravery of those who fought and tried.

Some people can be remarkably helpful,
And our soldiers are loyal and faithful.

Sometimes more soldiers were needed,
As people begged and pleaded.

Americans fought with all their might,
Hoping to bring an end to the fight.

The war was finally nearing its end,
But soldiers still had to defend.
